Welcome to FESTIVALL

See it ALL, Hear it ALL, Enjoy it ALL, Experience it ALL!

Thank you for joining us for our 17th celebration of music, art, theater, dance, family fun, and more.

How sweet it is to be seeing you this summer. After more than a year apart, FestivALL is honored to continue this tradition and provide 15 days of exciting and inspiring events and experiences for new and longtime fans.

This year, we are shining a light on 200+ local artists and community partners who make Charleston a vibrant arts and culture destination. FestivALL is a celebration that is made possible because of the collaborative spirit of our city — which has rung true since our first 3-day festival in 2005. A special thanks to Mayor Amy Shuler Goodwin, Charleston City Council, and City of Charleston departments and crews. We are so grateful to ALL who help our City Become a Work of Art each and every year.

That includes YOU — the Friends of FestivALL, sponsors, volunteers, and attendees. You believe in the connection and inspiration that the arts provide. I'm here to say thank you, and whether you're joining us in-person or virtually this summer, know just how much you are appreciated.

Enjoy ALL that our wonderful city has to offer. Happy FestivALL!

Maria Belcher

FestivALL Charleston, Executive Director

Mountain Stage

featuring

Paul Thorn,
Amythyst Kiah,
John Ellison, and more!

This live music radio show is produced by West Virginia Public Broadcasting and distributed by NPR Music to 280 public radio stations nationwide. Become a part of the small, but live audience (or tune in to the livestream) when guest host Kathy Mattea welcomes Paul Thorn, Amythyst Kiah, John Ellison, and more. This show will be held at 25% capacity with "pod" seating.

Or watch the live stream!

Mountain Stage livestreams are free, however there are some incredible folks out there who'd like to show their support through a donation-based, pay-what-you-want "ticket" for the livestream. You'll be able to catch the show from the comfort of your home (or wherever you wish) Sunday, June 13th at 7pm ET at mountainstage.org.

History Alive: Nellie Bly

Nellie Bly, adventurer, inventor, and ground-breaking investigative reporter was the pen name of Elizabeth Jane Cochrane. In 1887, to be hired as a reporter with Pulitzer's New York The World, she feigned insanity to get committed to a lunatic asylum with no guarantee of release. Her subsequent articles on the conditions and treatment of the "patients" led to improvements in the care for the mentally ill. In January of 1890, she bested the time of the fictional Phileas Fogg from the book, Around the World in Eighty Days. Nellie Bly is portrayed by JoAnn Peterson of Kingwood. This is part of the History Alive program from the WV Humanities Council.
